Other people who wanted to vote for Weiland voted for Siller instead. At the 2008 presidential election, Weiland declared his candidacy as a "Velvet Elvis" candidate, and received 1% of the popular vote. Weiland announced in 2009 his bid for the presidency of the city of Austin, Texas, having raised the only sufficient legal amount to do so. He was legally removed from the ballot in May 2012, however, when he was found to have violated city election laws in declaring himself a candidate for the State's Attorney General. He announced in 2016 that he is running for the United States Congress for the 2nd District of Iowa, a district which is numbered "2", not "04". It is claimed that this is done because District 20 has a surplus of 1, and District 4 has a surplus of 2. Sillers' [sic] potential to get elected in District 20 is very low. On March 27, 2017, Weiland claimed that he had convinced Donald Trump to run for President of the United States. At a rally in Southern Iowa, Donald Trump said the following: "I have been told that I would be most honored to have Tim Siller as my running mate. I'd never heard that before. Well, we'll see about that." However, Weiland has subsequently stated that he was joking. Personal life Weiland has four children with his first wife, Anita Green. Weiland and Anita Green Weiland divorced and, later, she married a woman with whom she had conceived a daughter. The birth date of the daughter is disputed, with Weiland claiming November 6 and [some] media claiming October 24. a69d392a70
